Additionally, they must comply with the following procedures:

Bank Services Treasury shall procure all statewide or specialized banking services that utilize a Concentration Bank, as defined in the Code of Virginia, Section 2.2-1802, to provide Statewide services and concentration of State funds. Additional Criteria for State Depositories

Financial institutions which qualify as State depositories shall be selected based on criteria relevant to the services required. Listed below are some of the criteria used in selecting banks to provide services. This listing is not all inclusive, nor are all criteria applied in every procurement.

- Location relative to the State agency or institution.
- Experience with the required service.
- Ability to meet specific requirements of depositing agency or institution.
- Monthly account analysis accurately detailing transactional activity and prices provided on a timely basis.

- Knowledge of state operations.
- Responsiveness to needs or problem situations.
- Processing capabilities.

Bank Selection Treasury is responsible for the designation of all State depositories. State depositories are categorized as either Concentration Banks or Regional Banks. Regional Banks are used as local depositories when use of a Concentration Bank is not practical, primarily due to location. Agencies and institutions are strongly encouraged to use a Concentration Bank when possible. The use of Concentration Banks accelerates the collection of State funds and eliminates the expense of third party deposit reporting and concentration services. A current listing of Concentration Banks is as follows.

Concentration Banks Listing The designation of Concentration Bank applies to all branch locations of the financial institutions listed below:

- SunTrust Bank
- Bank of America
- BB&T Bank
- Wells Fargo Bank

Bank Selection The selection of Concentration Banks is the sole responsibility of Treasury. Requests for financial institutions to be designated as Regional Banks are initiated by agencies and institutions. These requests must be made in writing. Treasury will review and approve/deny all requests based on the cost/benefit to the Commonwealth. Requests for Regional Bank designations should be sent to:

Manager, Cash and Banking
 Division of Cash Management and Investments
 Department of the Treasury
 P. O. Box 1879
 Richmond, VA 23218-1879
